1. What personal data do we collect and process?

In order for us to operate our business we need to collect personal data from those who access our websites, offices and project sites, obtain products or services from us, provide products or services to us, are engaged by us or who we otherwise have dealings with in the course of our day to day activities.

We are committed to ensuring that the personal data we collect and use is appropriate for this purpose and does not constitute an invasion of an individual's privacy. This section sets out further details of the types of personal data we collect in different circumstances and how it is used by us.

We may collect and use the following personal data about you:

- your name and contact information, including email address, telephone number and company details;
- details of your employer or the organisation you represent;
- information to check and verify your identity, e.g. your date of birth;
- your gender, if you choose to give this to us;
- location data, if you choose to give this to us;
- your personal or professional interests, if you choose to give this to us;
- your professional online presence, e.g. LinkedIn profile;
- information about how you use our website, IT, communication and other systems;
- your responses to surveys, competitions and promotions;
- information from our IT systems such as door entry systems and reception logs;
- information collected through automated monitoring of our websites and other technical systems such as our computer networks and connections, CCTV and access control systems, communication systems, email and instant messaging systems;
- dietary requirements for catering purposes;
- Photographic images in still or movie format.

We collect and use this personal data for a number of reasons (see How and why we use your personal data), often to provide services to you or the organisation you represent or to enable you or the organisation you represent to provide operations, goods and/or services to BYCN UK.

We collect most of this personal data directly from you in person, by telephone, text or email and/or via our website and apps. However, we may also collect information:

- from publicly accessible sources, e.g. Companies House or HM Land Registry;
- directly from a third party, e.g.:
 - sanctions screening providers;
 - credit reference agencies;
 - customer due diligence providers;
- from a third party with your consent,

- from cookies on our website—for more information on our use of cookies, please see our cookie statements available on the relevant website.

2. On what basis do we process personal data?

We will only process personal data where we have a lawful basis on which to do so. The lawful basis on which data is processed will depend on the nature of the information collected and the purposes for which it is used by us but will be one or more of following:

- Consent: you have provided your consent for us to process their personal data for a specific purpose.
- Contract: the processing is necessary for a contract you have with us or because you have asked us to take specific steps before entering into a contract.
- Legal obligation: the processing is necessary for us to comply with our legal obligations.
- Vital interests: the processing is necessary to protect someone’s life.
- Legitimate interests: the processing is necessary for our legitimate interests or the legitimate interests of a third party.

A legitimate interest is when we have a business or commercial reason to use your information, so long as this is not overridden by your own rights and interests.

Where we process special category personal data, we will also ensure we are permitted to do so under data protection laws, e.g. where we have the individual’s explicit consent, the processing is necessary to protect and individual’s vital interests where the individual is physically or legally incapable of giving consent, or if the processing is necessary to establish, exercise or defend legal claims.

Marketing and publicity

We have a legitimate interest in using your personal data for marketing purposes (see above 'How and why we use your personal data'). This means we do not usually need your consent to send you marketing information. However, where consent is needed, we will ask for this separately and clearly.

You have the right to opt out of receiving marketing communications at any time by:

- using the 'unsubscribe' link in emails or
- updating your marketing preferences on our preference centre, which will be linked in communications or is available at <https://info.bouygues-es.com/preference-center-en> (for Bouygues Energies & Services) or <https://go.bouygues-construction.com/byuk-preference-centre> (for Bouygues UK).

You may specify your contact preferences when you register to attend an event or receive communications, products or services from us. You will also be able change your contact preferences at any time using the options which can be found on relevant communications.

We may ask you to confirm or update your marketing preferences if you ask us to provide further operations, goods and/or services to you or the organisation you represent in the future, or if there are changes in the law, regulation, or the structure of our business.

We will always treat your personal data with the utmost respect and never sell or share it with other organisations outside the Bouygues SA group for marketing purposes.

3. Your rights as a data subject

As a data subject you have certain rights which you may exercise if we are in possession of, or are processing, your personal data. Specifically:

- Right of access – you have the right to request a copy of the information that we hold about you.
- Right of rectification – you have a right to correct data that we hold about you that is inaccurate or incomplete.
- Right to be forgotten – you have a right, in certain circumstances, to ask for the data we hold about you to be erased from our records.
- Right to restriction of processing – where certain conditions apply you have a right to restrict the processing of your personal data.

Dept	Code	Number	Revision
BYCNUK.LEG	G	10	B

- Right of portability – you have the right to have the data we hold about you transferred to another organisation.
- Right to object – you have the right to object to certain types of processing such as direct marketing.

Should you wish to exercise these rights you can contact us using the contact details set out in the Contact Information section below. In the event that BYCN UK refuses your request under rights of access, we will provide you with a reason as to why. You have the right to complain as outlined in the Complaints section below.

4. For how long do we hold personal data?

BYCN UK will only retain personal information for the period necessary to fulfil the purposes for which it is collected and processed, or for such shorter or longer period as may be prescribed by applicable law or our internal policies and procedures.

We will keep your personal data while we are providing operations, goods and/or services to you or the organisation you represent or you or the organisation you represent are providing operations, goods and/or services to us or whilst there are potential mutual business opportunities for us and the business you represent. Thereafter, we will keep your personal data for as long as is necessary:

- to respond to any questions, complaints or claims made by you or on your behalf;
- to show that we treated you fairly;
- to keep records required by law.

We will not keep your personal data for longer than necessary. Different retention periods apply for different types of personal data.

When it is no longer necessary to keep your personal data, we will delete or anonymise it.

5. Transferring, storing and processing your data

Personal data may be held at our offices and those of our group companies, third party agencies, service providers, representatives and agents (see below: Disclosure of your information). Some of these third parties may be based outside the UK.

Transferring your personal data out of the UK

To deliver our operations or services to you, it is sometimes necessary for us to share your personal data outside the UK, eg:

- with our offices or other companies within our group located outside the UK;
- with your and our service providers located outside the UK/EEA;
- if you are based outside the UK/EEA;
- where there is a European and/or international dimension to the services we are providing to you or you are providing us.

Dept	Code	Number	Revision
BYCNUK.LEG	G	10	B

The data that we collect may be processed by staff operating outside the EEA who work for us. Such staff will be engaged in the provision of support services for our business. By submitting your personal data to us, you agree to this transfer, storing or processing. We will take all steps reasonably necessary to ensure that your data is treated securely and in accordance with this Privacy Notice.

Under data protection law, we can only transfer your personal data to a country or international organisation outside the UK/EEA where:

- the UK government or, where the EU GDPR applies, the European Commission has decided the particular country or international organisation ensures an adequate level of protection of personal data (known as an 'adequacy decision');
- there are appropriate safeguards in place, together with enforceable rights and effective legal remedies for data subjects; or
- a specific exception applies under data protection law

These are explained below.

Adequacy decision

We may transfer your personal data to certain countries, on the basis of an adequacy decision. These include:

- all European Union countries, plus Iceland, Liechtenstein and Norway (collectively known as the 'EEA');
- Gibraltar; and
- Andorra, Argentina, Canada, Faroe Islands, Guernsey, Israel, Isle of Man, Japan, Jersey, New Zealand, Switzerland and Uruguay.

The list of countries that benefit from adequacy decisions will change from time to time. We will always seek to rely on an adequacy decision, where one exists.

Other countries or international organisations we are likely to transfer personal data to do not have the benefit of an adequacy decision. This does not necessarily mean they provide poor protection for personal data, but we must look at alternative grounds for transferring the personal data, such as ensuring appropriate safeguards are in place or relying on an exception, as explained below.

Transfers with appropriate safeguards

Where there is no adequacy decision, we may transfer your personal data to another country or international organisation if we are satisfied the transfer complies with data protection law, appropriate safeguards are in place, and enforceable rights and effective legal remedies are available for data subjects.

The safeguards will usually include using legally-approved standard data protection contract clauses. In relation to transfers to our overseas offices or other companies within our group, the safeguards may instead include legally binding rules and policies that apply to Bouygues SA or Bouygues Construction SA (known as binding corporate rules), which have been approved by the UK and/or French data protection regulator.

Dept	Code	Number	Revision
BYCNUK.LEG	G	10	B

To obtain a copy of the standard data protection contract clauses and further information about relevant safeguards, including our binding corporate rules, please contact us (see 'Contact Information' below).

Transfers under an exception

In the absence of an adequacy decision or appropriate safeguards, we may transfer personal data to a third country or international organisation where an exception applies under relevant data protection law, eg:

- you have explicitly consented to the proposed transfer after having been informed of the possible risks;
- the transfer is necessary for the performance of a contract between us or to take pre-contract measures at your request;
- the transfer is necessary for a contract in your interests, between us and another person; or
- the transfer is necessary to establish, exercise or defend legal claims.

We may also transfer information for the purpose of our compelling legitimate interests, so long as those interests are not overridden by your interests, rights and freedoms. Specific conditions apply to such transfers and we will provide relevant information if and when we seek to transfer your personal data on this ground.

6. Disclosure of your information

We may disclose your personal information to any member of our group, which means Bouygues SA, its subsidiaries and subsidiary undertakings from time to time (as defined in the Companies Act 2006).

We may also disclose your personal information to third parties in certain circumstances including:

- We may provide personal data to clients, third party suppliers, service providers, professional advisors and other business partners (e.g. bank(s), insurers, brokers) to enable us to provide or receive products or services.
- In the event that we sell or buy any business or assets, we may disclose your personal data to the prospective seller or buyer of such business or assets.
- Other third parties we use to help us run our business, eg marketing agencies or website hosts;
- Third parties approved by you, eg social media sites you choose to link your account to or third party payment providers;
- We may share personal data with external auditors, eg in relation to ISO or other quality accreditations and the audit of our accounts;
- We may disclose or share your personal data if we are under a duty to do so in order to comply with any legal or regulatory obligation or where necessary to enforce any legal right or contractual agreement, or to protect the rights, property, or safety of BYCN UK, our employees, customers, or others. This includes exchanging information with other companies, organisations and bodies for the purposes of fraud protection and credit risk reduction.

- We may share images of you (e.g. attending an event at one of our sites or of us providing training or educational experiences to you) on our websites and social media channels (mainly Twitter, LinkedIn and YouTube), in news articles, press releases and features, in reports or submissions to potential clients or investors or other bodies to whom we are required to report, and on other promotional materials such as adverts, newsletters and brochures.
- We may share some personal data with other parties, such as potential buyers of some or all of our business or during a restructuring—usually, information will be anonymised but this may not always be possible, however, the recipient of the information will be bound by confidentiality obligations.

We only allow our service providers to handle your personal data if we are satisfied they take appropriate measures to protect your personal data. We also impose contractual obligations on service providers to ensure they can only use your personal data to provide services to us and to you.

If you would like more information about who we share our data with and why, please contact us (see 'Contact Information' below).

Keeping your personal data secure

We have appropriate security measures to prevent personal data from being accidentally lost or used or accessed unlawfully. We limit access to your personal data to those who have a genuine business need to access it. Those processing your information will do so only in an authorised manner and are subject to a duty of confidentiality. We continually test our systems and some of our entities are ISO 27001 certified whilst all carry CyberEssentials+ accreditation, which means we follow top industry standards for information security.

We also have procedures in place to deal with any suspected data security breach. We will notify you and any applicable regulator of a suspected data security breach where we are legally required to do so.

If you want detailed information from Get Safe Online on how to protect your information and your computers and devices against fraud, identity theft, viruses and many other online problems, please visit www.getsafeonline.org. Get Safe Online is supported by HM Government and leading businesses.

7. Changes to our Privacy Notice

We reserve the right to change this policy at any time. Where appropriate, we may notify data subjects of those changes.

8. Contact information

Any questions, comments and requests regarding this Privacy Notice or our collection or use of personal data should be emailed to gdpr_uk@bouygues-construction.com
